Birding Guide for the Quimper Peninsula, Protection, Indian and Marrowstone Islands, and Discovery Bay

This checklist includes 200 species of birds sighted in and around the Quimper Peninsula. Located on the Pacific Flyway at the convergence of the Strait of Juan De Fuca and Puget Sound, it includes both open and sheltered ocean areas, freshwater lakes and streams, riparian and young upland forests. It also is within sight of two important wildlife habitats, Olympic National Park with almost a million acres of primeval landscape, and Protection Island National Wildlife Refuge, nesting grounds for over 70% of Puget Sound seabirds. These factors create excellent birding year-round.

Sp = Spring Migration: March, April, May
S = Summer: June, July, August
F = Fall Migration: September, October
W = Winter: November, December, January, February

C = Common - generally seen or heard on a birding trip; often in large numbers
U = Uncommon - more difficult to find and in small numbers
R = Rare - not seen every year

Note: Other species have been seen here but with single records or a few totally. Contact Admiralty Audubon for more details. <http://admiraltyaudubon.org>
